Industry Faces Situation Similar to Over-production on Farms

PRICE FIXING IS PUZZLE

Opposition Warns Coolidge Attempt to Boost Prices Will Be Opposed

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The Coolidge administration finds itself embarrassed by the problem which the oil producers have laid out for it. The oil men would like to have the president's conservation board approve steps which may permit them to regulate production. To do this would mean acquiescence in something the anti-trust laws might possibly be construed to cover, especially if the resultant effect is not liked by the consumer.

And yet the oil industry is in the throes of an economic situation which is not unlike that of agriculture — namely over-production and a declining market. The administration has refused to approve the measure which had for its purpose a stabilization of farm prices by means of an equalization fee and the indications are that it will similarly decline to sanction any move by the oil producers which might have the effect of increasing prices to the consumers.

FEAR AUTO OWNERS
Millions upon millions of automobile owners, it is recognized are able by their voting power to bring about any effort on the part of the government to boost oil prices. The opposition members of congress are warning the administration that any sanction which would lead to a rise in oil prices will be fought in congress.

So what can be done? The oil men find themselves in a serious plight because more oil is being taken out of the ground than is necessary. Also the prices being paid for gasoline are too low in the sense that they do not cover the transportation charges. Most people who pay the retail gasoline price do not realize that the biggest factor in the price of oil is carrying it from the well to the consumer, that there is little opportunity for cutting costs in that direction. The overproduction in oil has led to the reduction of the price to a point of danger to the oil industry. That is the reason why the producers are anxious to prevent an excess of drilling. The administration would like to see them succeed and probably will not scrutinize too closely the arrangements they may have among themselves to refrain from over-production. But as for government sanction to any plan, the politics of the situation would appear to make that not only impossible but somewhat perilous just now.

There may be a way out in the handling of the question as intra-state instead of interstate. If the agreements among the owners of wells govern situations within a state and are so worded that they cannot be considered with interstate commerce, the chances are that the few states which have laws relating to the subject would themselves find it inexpedient to prosecute because these very states would be interested in a higher return from the oil that is sold. In other words, the producer states where the agreements are made are likely to be sympathetic with curtailed production, whereas the consumer states would have recourse only through federal statutes with which it is supposed the oil producers will carefully avoid conflict.

CLAIMS GIRL SCOUTS HELP DEVELOP CITIZENS

Milwaukee — (AP) — A high type of citizenship is being developed among the women of tomorrow by the Girl Scout movement. Mrs. Arthur Choate, a member of the national board of directors of the Girl Scouts, asserted Wednesday night at a meeting of 100 captains and lieutenants of the organization in connection with the semi-annual meeting of the national board of directors.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the secretary of commerce, who is chairman of the executive committee, national vice president and a director, declared the modern girl is the ideal companion in marriage to the training which fits her to understand her husband's problems, and the future she is afforded because of labor-saving devices in the home.

A public mass meeting will be held Thursday night with 1,500 scouts presenting a ceremony. The meeting will close at noon Friday.

BILL BASED ON BAUME LAW IS PASSED, 21-3, BY WISCONSIN SENATE

Madison — (AP) — The senate passed by a 21-3 vote Senator H. H. Smith's bill providing for the life imprisonment of a person convicted of four felonies. The bill, almost an exact duplicate of the Baume law recently passed in New York state, was offered as a "means of checking the habitual criminal."

Senator Polakowski attacked the bill as "too drastic" when Senator Smith invited any senator "in favor of law enforcement" to pick a flaw in the measure.

CAR DRIVER IS HELD IN DEATH OF PASSENGER

Scandinavia Man Arrested by Clintonville Police After Accident

Clintonville — Otto Stephenson, 44, Scandinavian, was instantly killed about 8:30 Wednesday night while riding in an automobile. The car was driven by Herman Schultz of this city. The cars locked wheels and were hurled into a ditch at the side of the road near a culvert.

Peter Forsteth, Scandinavian, driver of the machine, was held by Clintonville police on a charge of reckless driving, pending the return of District Attorney Lloyd Smith from Madison, when another charge may be brought against him, according to Police Chief J. J. Monty. Other occupants of the Forsteth car were Martin Stephenson, brother of the dead man, and John England, all of Scandinavian. Schultz was the sole occupant of his machine.

It is thought that Stephenson attempted to leave the car when he saw that the collision was unavoidable, and that his head was crushed when the machine rolled into the ditch. Other occupants suffered only minor injuries, it is reported. A coroner's jury viewed the body, but did not announce its findings, according to Chief Monty.

Forsteth was to appear before a local justice Thursday afternoon to answer to the charge against him.

SON OF RAIL MAGNATE WEDS FOR THIRD TIME

Livingston, Mont. — (AP) — A Montana ranch was the scene Thursday of third honeymoon of Walter Hill, youngest son of the late railroad magnate, James J. Hill, following his divorce from his second wife and his marriage to a former Ziegfeld Follies girl here Wednesday.

The wealthy rancher obtained a contested divorce from Mrs. Pauline Hill in district court, and a few minutes later married Mildred Richardson, daughter of Mrs. C. R. Meyers of Long Island, N. Y. Her father, W. Earl Richardson, is a prominent Canadian financier.

Only the principals, the bride's parents, and an employee of the Hill ranch near here, were present at the court-house ceremony. Hill's bride, a member of the Follies company for four years, announced they were going to be "real Montana ranchers and take care of Walter's blooded stock."

NO RECONCILIATION IN VANDERBILT SUIT

Paris — (AP) — "The reconciliation meeting," provided for by French law in suits for divorce, was held Thursday in the case of William K. Vanderbilt Jr. and his wife, the former Virginia Fair. Both said "no" when asked if a reconciliation was possible and it is stated that the divorce will probably be granted within due course of time.

5 ARE DROWNED, 350 HOMELESS ABOUT PEORIA

Between 200 and 300 Homes Destroyed in City and Its Vicinity

Chicago — (AP) — Peoria, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind., were hardest hit in the latest series of spring storms which lashed through portions of Illinois and Indiana late Wednesday.

Five persons were believed to have drowned at Peoria, scores were missing and 350 were homeless. Five and one-half inches of rain fell between 2 o'clock Wednesday morning and 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, flooding downtown streets and basements, tying up railroad automobile and street car traffic and sending Farm creek out of its banks.

Government boats were sent into the lowlands of Peoria to rescue families driven from their homes by the rising creek.

Newspaper reporters who toured the area brought estimates to Peoria early Thursday of a possible death list of five to fifteen in east Peoria and Pekin, while police checked up on a number of missing persons.

HEAVY HAIL FALLS

The rain at Peoria and surrounding territory was accompanied by a heavy fall of hail which shattered thousands of windows. Damage was estimated at nearly $750,000. Between 200 and 300 homes were destroyed, several buildings were wrecked, a dozen larger buildings unroofed, and badly crippled transportation and telegraph communication was toll of the storm which struck Indianapolis and vicinity. State of the injured are in a critical condition.

STORM IS GENERAL

The storm was general over the central part of the state, sweeping in from Terre Haute on the west and reaching to Richmond on the east.

Three trainmen were killed when a big four freight crashed into a creek near La Fontaine, Ind., the bridge having been swept away by flood waters. The engine and six cars piled into the water.

Lightning struck the Hartzburg, Ill., community high school, stunning four teachers and 50 students.

Chanute flying field at Rantoul, Ill., felt the fury of the storm. Several hangars were demolished, small buildings were blown down and the main hall was damaged.

DANCE IDOL DIES IN SWITZERLAND

Maurice Mouvet Succumbs at Lausanne After Long Battle With Disease

New York — (AP) — The career of a boy from the sidewalks of New York who became the dance idol of two continents is over. Maurice Mouvet, the end of the line in Lausanne, Switzerland, of tuberculosis, which he had fought for years, at his side was Eleanor Ambrose, his wife and dancing partner, and the last of five women who played prominent parts in his life.

Maurice Oscar Louis Mouvet at 15 became a dancer and his grace won him prominence. He danced in Paris, Vienna and Monte Carlo in 1911 he returned to New York with Madeleine, a French dancer, as his partner. Their success was immediate.

But Madeleine married. Marriage of his partners was the bane of Maurice's life. Four feminine partners deserted him for the altar and he lost a fifth through differences. Then the dancer discovered the girl he had been "dreaming of for 20 years," Eleanor Ambrose, daughter of a Kansas farmer. They were married in Paris in April, 1926.

Two months ago while they were enroute to London to dance before the king and queen of England his health collapsed.

Idaho Dam Collapses; 8 Lives Are Lost In Flood

Idaho Falls, Idaho — (AP) — Nature has restored the topography of the upper Gros Ventre river valley to a semblance of its original appearance at a cost of eight lives. It was revealed Thursday as flood waters, released by a "slide" dam, continued to menace several communities.

The "slide" dam, created when Sheep mountain shifted several feet in June, 1925, to send an avalanche of rocks, dirt and trees across the Gros Ventre river, collapsed Wednesday to send a wall of water down the sparsely settled valley. The lake created by the natural dam held approximately 100,000 acre feet of water.

Kelly, little northwestern Wyoming community, where about 75 persons lived, was inundated virtually without warning. Several persons drowned.

The death list stood at eight and others were missing.

Continuing its race down the valley, the flood struck Wilson, 25 miles below Kelly, within two hours.

As the water rushed into the Gros Ventre at its junction with the Snake river, near Wilson, warnings were issued to farmers for more than 100 miles along the twisting valley. As the torrent passed into Idaho, it maintained a head of nearly ten feet.

Telephone communication to the upper Snake River valley was crippled and only meager reports were available as to the damage to several villages. Only a church and a store were reported undamaged at Kelly.

The Sheep mountain slide followed a series of earthquakes that caused considerable damage in northern Wyoming and Montana.

Bertaud Is Out Of Paris Flight, Plane Owner Says

New York — (AP) — Lloyd Bertaud definitely will not make the Paris flight in the Bellanca monoplane with Clarence Chamberlin, and his successor is already selected. Charles A. Levine, head of the company backing the flight, told the Associated Press Thursday afternoon.

Levine's announcement followed tardily on an almost nightlong conference, at the end of which Bertaud had said that all difficulties had been ironed out and that he would go on the flight as navigator as originally planned.

Levine when asked to state definitely what the results of the conferences were said:

"Bertaud is not going, that is definite. His successor has been selected but his identity will not be revealed until the plane is ready to hop off."

Levine said that Frank Tichenor, publisher of an aeroplane magazine, went to his house early Thursday, talking with him Bertaud and G. M. Bellanca, designer of the plane. He identified Bertaud in his statement as "formerly navigator of the plane Columbia."

"Tichenor came as peace-maker, and Bellanca was neutral," he said. "Bertaud repudiated the statements attributed to him in the press and attempted to conciliate me, but I told him he was definitely out."

"He offered to withdraw the injunction suit he started against me if I would let him go, but I rejected his offer."

PARISHES FLOODED

A sudden inundation of an additional portion of St. Landry parish, sending several feet of water into Beggs, Garland, Dubuison, Whiteville and into the country surrounding them, was reported. More than 5,000 persons were estimated to be in the inundated territory. Cars on the Southern Pacific Railroad line are carrying them to safety.

The facilities of the refugee camp at Opelousas became overtaxed Wednesday and a new camp was established at Eunice, 18 miles away. Four and a half miles have been registered at Opelousas.

Rescue workers at Opelousas were kept busy Wednesday night and Thursday answering a steady stream of calls for help which came from inundated sections.

Two danger spots in the lower valley caused trouble Wednesday night, and were reported holding well today. At Belle Helene, 70 miles above New Orleans, on the east bank of the Mississippi, 150 feet of a dike started sloughing. It later was reported that the damage had been repaired. The other danger point was at McCrea.

STATE BANKS DROP CLAIMS AGAINST CITY

Appleton and Outagamie Banks Do Not Want Rebate of Taxes

Appleton State and Outagamie County banks have relinquished all claims against the city controversy and as a result the city will save approximately $36,000 which it might have been forced to rebate, it was announced by the council's special bank stock tax committee at the council meeting Wednesday night.

The Outagamie bank asked a refund of a few hundred dollars which was paid by error, it was said.

The report of the committee shows that the Appleton State bank paid the city $25,897.50 in the six years of the illegal tax. This amount plus interest would total about $36,000. The income tax during the same time would have amounted to $9,557.37 but the bank could not be forced to pay this, the committee believed. The amount paid by the Outagamie bank in that time was $7,516.57 with interest of about $1,000. The income tax on this bank would have totaled $22.22.

The Citizens National bank is the only institution which still holds a claim against the city. The record shows that this bank paid the city $51,216 in the six years of the illegal tax. Interest, during that period will swell the total to more than $60,000. The bank officials and committee have had "real" elections but thus far have failed to reach agreement.

The claims against the city are based on the recent decision of the United States Supreme court that the personal property tax against national banks was illegal.

Members of the bank stock tax committee are Mayor A. C. Rule, Alderman George T. Richard and Alderman Alfred C. Bosser.

SENATE OVERRIDES GOVERNOR'S VETO

Pass Senator White's Bill on Attendance at State Road School

Madison — (AP) — For the first time during the present session of the legislature, the state senate Thursday passed over a bill over Governor Fred R. Zimmerman's veto. It voted 21 to 7 for Senator White's bill making attendance of county highway commissioners and committees at the annual road school optional.

The bill had been vetoed by the Governor because of what he considered the "educational advantages afforded the commissioners and committees" through the road school.

In speaking for his measure against Senator White called the road school registration bill, recently vetoed by the governor, was asked under the provisions of a resolution adopted by the state senate.

Senator Southoff, who introduced the permanent registration bill at the request of the League of Women Voters, was the author of the resolution.

Governor Zimmerman's veto of the measure came after he had received the opinion which cited the proposal as in violation of home rule rights.

HUERTA ARRESTED FOR CONSPIRING AGAINST U. S.

Tucson, Ariz. — (AP) — Adolfo De La Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico Thursday faced, with four others, charges of conspiracy against the United States and of exporting arms and ammunition into Mexico in violation of a presidential embargo. The charges were filed Wednesday. Department of justice agents say a two months investigation uncovered evidence of comparatively extensive arms smuggling.

RECOMMEND PAROLE FOR EX-GOVERNOR M'CRAV

Washington — (AP) — The federal parole board has recommended that Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana, sentenced to Atlanta penitentiary for ten years, be paroled in August when he becomes eligible for that release. Attorney General Sargent C. D. Bailey took the recommendation under consideration. McCray was sentenced to the penitentiary in 1921 for using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud.

ILLINOIS HOUSE IN FAVOR OF STATEWIDE VOTE ON U. S. DRY LAW

Springfield — (AP) — The Illinois house of representatives for the second time this session has turned almost solidly for repeal of the "dry" law. It voted, 80 to 63, late Wednesday for a statewide referendum on repeal of the state prohibition enforcement laws, including the search and seizure act.

The Chicago delegation, voting almost solidly for repeal, had the support of 29 downstate representatives. The state senate has yet to act on the bill.

Prohibition was blamed in part by speakers for agricultural depression, an increase of crime, for making "it a law of law breakers" and for increasing instead of decreasing drunkenness.

ASSEMBLY BREAKS UP IN RIOT OVER SPEAKER'S RULING

Prescott Takes Eber's Chair When Speaker Rules Session Is Adjourned

Madison — (AP) — The probability of continuous opposition to Speaker John W. Eber of the assembly, throughout the remainder of the session with the possibility of an effort to remove him from the speaker's chair, were forecast Thursday after a demonstration accompanying adjournment of the lower house.

Assemblyman Prescott, after a motion for adjournment had been made, demanded a ruling on the "alium" bill reconsideration motion hammering. Other members took the floor without recognition and bedlam broke loose.

The speaker, shouting above the din put the motion for adjournment. There was a chorus of "ayes" and an equally strong chorus of "noes," with some of the "noes" calling for a "roll call" and demands that a record vote on the adjournment be taken.

In the midst of this uproar, Speaker Eber gathered up his papers and records and left the rostrum.

PRESCOTT IN CHAIR

Mr. Prescott cried "wait a minute boys, don't leave," and ran to the speaker's desk, mounted the platform, and called for order.

"Follow members," he said. "I have been here for five sessions and I have never before seen such business as this. I wonder if we are going to permit this? Or are we men enough to demand that a motion for adjournment be voted on?"

The members had started to leave, some of them had left the chamber, but nearly all remained around the edges of the room, a few at their desks.

SAYS GROUP MARRIAGES ORDERED BY KING "BEN"

St. Joseph, Mich. — (AP) — Group marriages were ordered for girl members of the House of David colony when a federal white slave investigation was threatened, according to Mrs. C. L. Swanson, of South Orange, N. J., a witness in the dissolution proceedings against the cult here.

More than fifty girls were quickly assembled when word of the proposed inquiry was received. Mrs. Swanson, a former member of the colony, testified Wednesday. Benjamin Funnell, head of the colony ordered the marriages, she said, and told the girls their husbands would have to live with them "if it became necessary."

The witness then explained that celibacy was one of the tenets of the faith.

"HOME BREW" MADE LEGAL BY ASSEMBLY

Duncan Bill to Permit Manufacture of Beer at Home Passes Easily

Madison — (AP) — The state assembly Thursday passed assemblyman Duncan's "bill of rights for the home brewer" by a vote of 55 to 34.

The bill would legalize the manufacture of beer or 2.75 alcoholic content by persons not under federal or state supervision.

There was little argument on the bill although a motion for indefinite postponement of the measure was defeated 55 to 23. Most of the arguments on the bill occurred at the time of its consideration.

Reconsideration of Assemblyman Ingham's bill calling for party conventions before primary elections was asked by assemblyman Krause, but a point of order was raised in that the bill had been voted down twice already. Speaker Eber will rule on the point of order soon.

TRAGEDY HITS EVERY FAMILY IN COMMUNITY

Wife of Crazy Murderer Is Among Victims — Shattered Body Is Found

P. L. O. CAREFULLY LAID

Short Circuited Wire in Basement Saved 150 Others in Building

Bath, Mich. — (AP) — Mrs. Andrew Kehoe, wife of the maniac who Wednesday blew up the consolidated school here, with a loss of 42 lives, his farm home and himself, was the first victim of his fury, it was established Thursday. Portions of her body were found in the ashes of one of the outbuildings on the Kehoe farm. Her skull was crushed, leading to the belief Kehoe killed her before casting her body into the building to be burned.

The discovery was made by Roy Cole, a deputy sheriff.

One-fourth of the children of this village are dead, as many more are maimed, and the hand of tragedy has reached into virtually every one of the hundreds of homes of the community as a result of the carefully devised plot of the demented farmer.

Kehoe once was known as a man of brilliance in the community, but his mind had been diverted to schemes of revenge against the school board because of anger over a school tax levied against him. Kehoe was a member of the board.

36 PUPILS KILLED

Of the 42 who were killed, 36 were pupils in the school, which was wrecked by the explosion of dynamite, while 40 others were injured.

Of the hundred and some odd families of the community, there was a who did not lose a child or relative or friend, by the fenshild handwork of Kehoe, who set off the death-dealing blast under the delusion that school officials were conspiring to ruin him.

The usual early morning hurry and scurry of the children ready for school was absent Thursday. Instead, parents were engaged in the duty of making funeral preparations for their loved ones.

Tentative plans call for a group funeral for the 36 children killed with separate services for the five elder victims.

SET HOME EXPLORE

Prior to the explosion Kehoe had set fire to his farm house and outbuildings which were burned to the ground and he even destroyed the trees on the place. On the fence of the place was found a sign which read: "Criminals are born, not made."

State Fire Marshal Charles Lane, stated that if Kehoe was unassisted, he must have worked weeks to install the explosive and the elaborate wiring system. Because of the expert way in which wires were soldered and the dynamite was taped, it was possible that more than one person took part in the work.

An inquest, which was to have been held Thursday, was postponed until next Monday to give officials a chance to make a final check of the dead.

ACCIDENT SAVES VILLAGE
EVERYWHERE IN THE VILLAGE, the threatened destruction of the entire village. Investigation showed that Kehoe had carefully mined the basement, installing an elaborate system of electrical wiring connected with a time clock. One of the wires he so carefully installed became short circuited and the electric impulse failed to complete its course. It was this failure that prevented the killing of more than 150 more pupils in another part of the building.

In all there were three explosions. The first occurred early Wednesday at Kehoe's home, about a mile west of the village, destroying the house, barn and wagon sheds. All apparently were wired to the same timing device.

The second blast was that in the school building. It came at 9:43 Wednesday morning, as shown by the stopping of clocks, only a few minutes after classes had been assembled. The third blast came in Kehoe's automobile in front of the school about 30 minutes later.

Kehoe was sitting in the car. Emory E. Huyck, superintendent of schools was talking with him, one foot on the running board. Glenn C. Smith, village postmaster, and Nelson McFarland, an aged man, were standing on the sidewalk a few feet away. Suddenly a terrific blast came from the machine. The bodies of Kehoe and Huyck were blown to bits. McFarland was killed outright and Smith so badly injured that he died in a hospital shortly afterward. Kehoe's car was torn to pieces. The rear wheels and differential were hurled across the road.

GOVERNOR ASKS HELP

The appeal indicated that the wrecked school house will be replaced entirely by popular subscription or from the coffers of the state. The township is heavily in debt. COUNCIL VOTES TO PUT MORE LIGHTS AT ENTRANCE TO CITY

Catlin Points Out Menace to Life Because of Dark Street

After an address by Alderman Mark Catlin, the common council Wednesday night adopted a resolution introduced by Alderman W. H. Vander Heyden ordering the street lighting committee to prepare plans for more street lights on S. Cherry-st. south of the bridge. The resolution was adopted unanimously and the plans will be ready for the next meeting.

"I don't want to be in the class that shouts 'I told you so,'" began Mr. Catlin, "but we have a death trap on S. Cherry-st. which we are bound in conscience to alleviate in some manner."

Automobiles going north on S. Cherry-st. are in the glare of the lights driving south on the bridge and that is the reason accidents occur. The drivers are blinded by the light and fail to see the job in the street at that point.

FOUR ACCIDENTS
"In the last four weeks we have seen four accidents on S. Cherry-st. and no one can ever pay in dollars for the loss of that little boy's life. It was just fortunate that more of the accidents did not result in fatalities," Alderman Catlin said.

"In the last few days we have seen more than a dozen accidents on S. Cherry-st. and invariably they answer they didn't know they were in the city limits. The signs were not large enough, there are no houses along the street and the street lighting does not indicate that that section is in a city. The city is at fault and some steps to remedy this should be taken immediately or we will have more accidents."

Mr. Catlin pointed to the case of the man from Menasha who is being held for the death of the Voss boy. The boy had been riding without a light," Mr. Catlin said, "twice before he was hit he was stopped by the motorists and warned to get off the concrete. And the man from Menasha was the unfortunate driver. He did not even know he was in Appleton because he went back to Menasha and told the police he had run down a boy in the town of Menasha."

CAN'T STOP SPEEDING
"We cannot stop speeding and we cannot stop boys from riding bicycles without lights but we can properly light Cherry-st. and then the city and the council will have a clear conscience because we can say we have done all that is possible. I plead with the council to take steps to remedy this situation at once."

George T. Prim, chief of police, told the alderman that the judge had called the attention of the city to the small sign indicating the city limits. Prim told the councilmen there was no ordinance providing a fine for riding a bicycle at night without a light. "But it is only the poor man who rides a bicycle and I could never bring myself to the point of taking them into court and fining them $5 and costs when I know they need the money to buy bread and meat for their children."

The chief said that more lights on the street would be an improvement and that a larger sign marking the city entrance should be erected.

Alderman Phillip Vogt argued that if there was a city ordinance against riding without lights it should be strictly enforced.

Mayor A. C. Rule told the council on April 21, 1925, the city treasurer reported a balance of $350,438, and for April 31, 1927, the treasurer reported a balance of $195,364.

After the action on the street lighting Alderman Vogt again called the attention of the council to the loss of dogs about the city. He said he received complaints every day. He suggested that the council order the ordinance committee to prepare an ordinance causing all dogs to be tied or kept in enclosures from April to October, but the proposal was lost by a large vote.

The mayor and the board of public works was instructed to take charge of decorating the city for the Moose convention.

Alderman Richard's resolution appropriating $150 for a Memorial day celebration was adopted.

The report of the street and bridges committee recommending purchase of a five ton tractor, paving of Johnson-st., installation of several sewers and some street repairs was adopted.

The report of old Lawrence Athletic field on N. Meade-st. dividing the section into 29 lots instead of the original 18 was adopted on recommendation of the city plan commission.

Several applications for sidewalk sewers, and permits to hang signs, were referred to the street and bridges committee. A petition for a stop sign at the corner of Pacific and Lawrence-st. also was referred to the street committee.

Alderman Richard, Catlin and Thompson were reappointed to the ordinance revision committee. This committee was appointed last year and died with the old council.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for sidewalks to be installed during the coming year, for a car load of amusements for street repair work and for coal and fuel oil to

BOARD DISCUSSES HEAT PLANTS IN CITY SCHOOLS

A new furnace in Lincoln school building and the iron automatic stoker at Roosevelt junior high school will be discussed at the regular meeting of the board of education at the superintendent's office on Friday evening. This is the monthly meeting scheduled for the second Friday in the month but was postponed because several members were out of the city.

POLICE PROBING ANOTHER BURGLARY

$3 in Change Is Stolen from Traas Grocery Store Thursday Night

Another burglary believed to have been perpetrated by boys was reported to police headquarters Thursday morning from the Peter Traas and Co. grocery store, 524 E. College-ave. The store was entered Wednesday night.

A little more than $3 in change was taken from the cash register, and several packages of gum and cigars are missing. This is all that was stolen, so far as could be determined Thursday morning.

The thieves removed hunches on the back door to enter the building. A gang of four boys between the ages of 16 and 17 were arrested last weekend, and two were returned to the industrial school for boys at Waukesa where they recently had been paroled. Their two companions were arraigned in municipal court this week.

More arrests are expected daily. That practically all the late burglaries were committed by youths is indicated by the methods employed.

In nearly every instance, large sums of money were overlooked, the thieves merely emptying the cash register and stealing cigars and gum.

Police Thursday conducted a thorough investigation at the Novelty Cleaners and Dyers, 215 E. College-ave, where approximately $10 was stolen Wednesday night. Entrance was made there through a rear window, which was removed. This burglary also is laid to boys.

An application of Robert Roemer for appointment as life saver at the municipal swimming pool was referred to the public buildings and grounds committee.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer to today's: DECLARER SHOULD PLAY HIS CARDS IN THE CLOSED HAND AS DECEPTIVELY AS POSSIBLE. Yesterday's Hand

The bidding should be: South one No Trump, West pass, North two Spades, East pass, South two No Trumps. The play to the first trick should be: West Three of Diamonds, North (Dummy), Ten of Diamonds, East, King of Diamonds, South (Closed Hand), Six of Diamonds.

North bids two Spades over South's one No Trump because he has a strong five-card Major. South, with only two cards of his partner's Major and with the other suits in good shape, confidently rebids the No Trump.

South plays the Six of Diamonds, not the Deuce, because with the Three led, showing the Deuce would lead East that West opened a four-card suit and East could then count that South had five, and would realize that returning his partner's suit would probably be of benefit to the

NOW YOU Ask One

NAME THE AUTHORS
 The first part of today's quiz is a bit literary; the rest is different. The answers, if you need 'em, are on page 2.

1—Name the authors of the following books: (a) Falk; (b) The Way of All Flesh; (c) Dark Laughter; (d) The Financier; (e) The Professor's House.

2—In what card game does one speak of having "ace in the hole?"

3—In which of Mark Twain's books does "Aunt Polly" play a leading part?

4—Engineers of what nation tried to dig the Panama Canal before the United States took it over?

5—What is a cathode?

6—Name the composer of either one of these two operas: (a) Samson et Delilah; (b) Die Walkure.

7—Can steamers pass from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario?

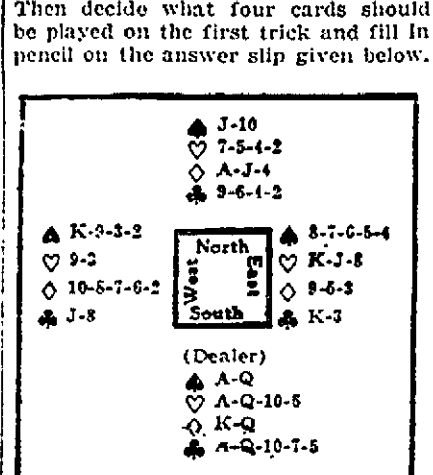

8—Who is premier of France?

9—Does Argentina or Chile have title to the southernmost tip of South America?

10—Did Abraham Lincoln ever have any military experience?

Declarer, South desires East to return Diamonds, so he plays the Six—not the Deuce—which will probably induce East to place the Deuce in West's hand, and to continue the suit, thinking that West is longer than South. It will be noted that if, at this trick East should shift to hearts he would save game; but with the Diamonds continued, the Declarer would make game without difficulty.

TODAY'S PROBLEM
 In the following deal, look at the hand of each player and determine what you think he should bid in his turn; in that way you will decide what the final contract should be. Then decide what four cards should be played on the first trick and fill in pencil on the answer slip given below.

G. OF C. WARNS AGAINST COOKBOOK "ADVERTISING"

Business men and advertisers in Appleton were advised not to purchase cookbooks from a representative of the Shelby Publishing Co., for the "benefit" of local organization, in a bulletin issued Thursday by the chamber of commerce.

The "cookbook" plan of money raising has been tried here before through the cooperation of misguided organizations and it again is being attempted, according to Secretary Hugh G. Corbett.

This time the publishers have secured the cooperation of the Rebekah lodge, it was said.

BOARD ORDERED TO BEGIN NEGOTIATING FOR MACHINE SHED

Council Takes Initial Steps Toward Buying Seamless Tube Co. Building

The board of public works Wednesday night was ordered to confer with the owners of the Seamless Tube Co. building on Spencer-st. to determine the price for which the city can buy the structure. The resolution was introduced by Alderman C. A. Thompson and adopted by the council over the warning of Mayor Rule and Alderman Catlin that the building cannot be purchased at this time.

The alderman had received a report that the building could be purchased for $21,445.72 and they felt that price was a fair one and authorized the board to negotiate with the owners. This is the amount paid for the property by C. L. Marston, trustee, at a recent sheriff's sale. The mayor said he had conferred with the attorneys for the bond holders and had been told that the building was not for sale at this time.

Alderman Catlin said he had information which led him to believe the city could not buy the building at that price. He said lack of taxes amount to about $3,500 and other repairs would bring the total cost to more than $45,000.

But Thompson said all this information was wrong because he also had conferred with the attorney and found that a meeting of the bond holders was necessary to reject a decision. He said the bond holders would meet this week. He said the council "fell down on the job" by not having a representative at the sheriff's sale when the building could have been purchased for $1 more than the original bid. He said that his plan merely was a precaution to put the city in a position to buy the building at a reasonable price if it is for sale. Mr. Thompson's resolution contained the stipulation that the council will pay $5,000 down and the balance over a period of five years.

Mayor Rule said he would oppose any action until the inventory at the city barns was completed and an estimate of the total value of city equipment was had. "We will not spend more for a tool house than the cost of our equipment," the mayor declared.

A resolution instructing the city clerk to supply the aldermen with copies of committee reports at least 24 hours before council meetings was introduced by Alderman Vander Heyden who said that many times the aldermen were voting on matters about which they know nothing beyond the report of committees. He said copies of reports would clarify the situation for the aldermen.

E. L. Williams, city clerk, said it would be hard to comply with this request because many committees did not meet until the day before the council meeting. Vander Heyden said that unless the committees reports were given to the clerk at least 48 hours before the meeting, they should be deferred until the next meeting of the council.

None of the aldermen would second the motion until finally Alderman Gmeiner offered a second because "he wanted to hear what Alderman Steinhauser had to say about it."

Steinhauser had tried to get the floor several times but the mayor refused to permit him to speak on the resolution unless it received a second. Steinhauser refused to second, however.

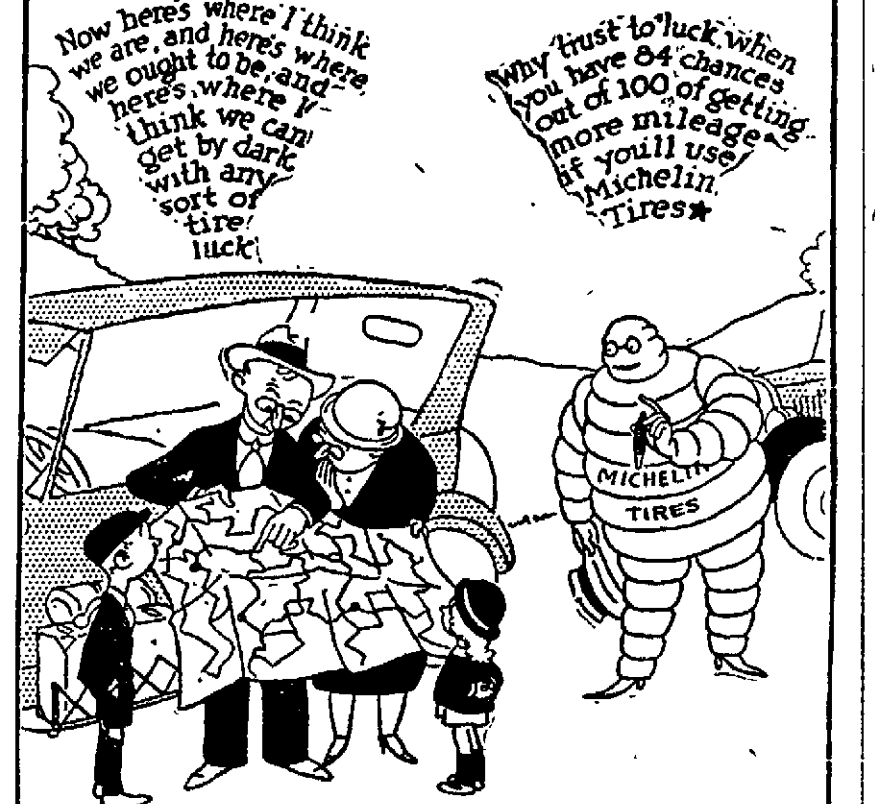

After a brief discussion Vander Heyden's motion was lost. Only Vander Heyden voted for it.

On advice of Alfred C. Bosser, city attorney, all previous actions of the council on paving E. College-ave were rescinded and the contract was awarded to the E. P. Coughlin company on its original bid of $21,829.80.

The attorney said that he discovered that the original steps taken by the council had been legal. He also said the Coughlin company refused to take the contracts except on the original bid.

THOMAS A. EDISON NOW ANSWERS A QUESTIONNAIRE

"No One Could Make Stradivarius Violins By Mass Production"

From his laboratories Thomas A. Edison has from time to time issued questionnaires. Now, he has consented to become the interrogated—has agreed to lay bare his half-century of effort to give the world perfect reproduction of music.

In plain, untechnical words, Mr. Edison here tells how he has made a marvelous musical instrument with all the painstaking care and individual detail of a Stradivarius Violin.

The questions asked Mr. Edison were:

Ques. Do you take advantage of the economies of mass production in the making of your phonograph?

Ans. I consider the New Edison Phonograph a musical instrument and not a machine to be made in the manner of automobiles, cheap furniture or other things in which uniform quality is not a prime essential.

Ques. Isn't it possible to make instruments of Edison quality by mass production?

Ans. No greater proof of the fallacy of this idea for as phonographs and other musical instruments are concerned, can be offered than the vain efforts of violin manufacturers to make violins of Stradivarius quality by mass production. For although every part of the instrument may be exact alike as to size, unless there is the individual human touch, there is bound to be a variation in tone quality.

Ques. How can the layman tell the difference between a phonograph made by mass production and one made by craftsmanship?

Ans. Anyone is apt to be satisfied with existing conditions until he hears something better; may even excuse distorted tone for want of a superior instrument. But when an ordinary phonograph turned out in quantity is compared side by side with one in which human hand work has played its part, the glaring difference instantly is apparent.

Ques. What do you consider the truest test of phonograph quality?

Ans. There is no measure of tone quality like the human ear. For this reason I urge comparison between the New Edison and other phonographs. To this end, I have advised every Edison dealer to place without obligation to the prospective buyer—the New Edison in any home where comparison with other types of phonographs is desired.

Ques. How would you describe the tone of the New Edison Phonograph?

Ans. It is sheer nonsense to speak of the tone of a phonograph or of its resonance. A phonograph should have no tone of its own. The instrument should be only a medium of Re-Creation. Obviously you should be unconscious of it and hear only the beautiful music it Re-Creates.

I worked for five years and spent more than $5,000,000 in experimental work to remove any false tone from the New Edison. Even when I, myself, was satisfied with the results I did not stop there. I insisted that the New Edison be submitted publicly to the test of side by side comparison with living artists whose performances had been recorded. Exacting music critics could detect no difference between living and Re-Created performance.

STATE SEEKS AID OF RAILROADS TO BETTER CROSSINGS

Highway Commission Asks Participation in Cost of Im- provements

Madison—(AP)—Continuing efforts to decrease grade crossing accidents in Wisconsin, the state highway department during the last quarter of the year has carried on negotiations with various railroad companies looking toward cooperative effort in reducing such hazards.

Participation in the cost of the grade crossing improvement is asked by the commission for this year and for 1923. The present plan of financing the construction, based on the cooperative plan, was developed during the last year and the commission hopes to prepare surveys and estimates for two years in advance.

Delays have been occasioned in negotiations with railroad engineers because of "causes beyond their control," according to the highway department. Several preliminary estimates of grade improvements have been sent to the railroad engineers.

The executed stipulation with the Illinois Central Railroad which covers the construction of reinforced concrete and steel over head structure at the intersection of state trunk highway number 19 and their line south of the city of Madison has been received.

Conferences have also been held on the Fond du Lac grade separation matter in Madison and it is believed that construction work will commence on this improvement in a short time.

Bridge plans and estimates are being prepared for several major improvements and it is expected that the work will move rapidly during the next quarter.

SCHMIEGE'S KIDNAPING BILLS BECOME LAWS

Two kidnaping laws which have passed both houses of the legislature and have been signed by Governor Fred R. Zimmerman were sponsored by Oscar J. Schmiede of Appleton, assemblyman from the Outagamie-co first district. The first bill changes the present penalty for kidnaping minors for immoral purposes from a small fine and jail penalty to a minimum of three years and a maximum of life imprisonment in state prison.

The second changes the old law of a flat life sentence for detaining minors for ransom to a penalty of from 15 to 20 years if no harm results to the child and life imprisonment if any injury is inflicted. Under the old law with the penalty being the same as first degree murder, the tendency of the person perpetrating the act, especially in cases of danger of being apprehended, was to destroy the child in order to cover up the evidence. The Schmiede bill provides a stimulus to return the child to its parents. Both bills had the backing of women's organizations in the state.

YOUNG MUSICIANS TO INVADE MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—A rising generation of musicians from the cities and towns of Wisconsin will invade Milwaukee next week bringing their brass, woodwinds and drums to vie with each other for honors in the Wisconsin high school band tournament.

Attired in uniforms of brilliant and sombre hues, high school bands from between 35 and 40 cities will arrive next Friday for the two day contests in which championships of bands, individual musicians and ensembles will be decided. With the honors, go individual medals, and cups and plaques.

The band movement in Wisconsin has grown steadily year after year and the state high school band association has recognized the unfairness of testing experienced bands against the novices and has provided for four classes. Under this arrangement bands are grouped according to experience, Class A for bands with more than three years' experience; class B, less than three and more than two; class C, less than two years and more than one and class D less than one year.

37 BIRTHS, 24 DEATHS IN CITY LAST MONTH

There were 37 births and 24 deaths in April as compared with 47 births and 31 deaths in the same month in 1922, according to the final monthly report of W. C. Felton, former city physician. There were 10 marriages, and 27 burial permits were issued. Dr. Felton also made 21 home visits and treated 41 patients.

MISSOURI REDUCES GRADE CROSSINGS

44 Per Cent of Crossings Have Been Eliminated in Last Four Years

Missouri has eliminated 44 per cent of its grade crossings at a cost of $1,325,500 in four years, it is pointed out by J. S. Powell, president of the First National bank, in a letter to Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Powell recently returned from a trip through the southern state. The progress made by this state in decreasing danger to motorists is amazing, he indicated.

A clipping enclosed in the letter read as follows:

Jefferson City—Elimination of railroad grade crossings in Missouri to prevent accidents and save lives is an important phase of the state highway program, it is pointed out by C. M. Hughes, new secretary of the state highway commission.

Missouri had, at the beginning of 1923 when construction of the present state highway system was started, 731 railroad grade crossings on the highway system as designated, the secretary said. Since then the department has eliminated 240 of them by relocation of state highways and affected 80 grade crossing separations, through co operation with railroads. The cost to the state of the separations, underpassing or overhead bridges, totaled $1,325,500. Hughes said. Altogether the number of grade crossings were reduced 44 per cent.

E. G. Schueler, poor commissioner. In January and February there were approximately 48 applications for aid while last month there were only 37. In addition to having fewer applications many families who still receive aid have reduced the amount. Construction work is giving employment to many men idle last winter.

FINISH DRAINAGE SYSTEM AT SCHOOL

Surrounding Property Will Not Be Flooded Any More from Melting Ice

Employees of the street department are completing the drainage system at the First ward school playgrounds this week. Due to complaints received from home owners east of the grounds each spring that their cellars were flooded with water from melting ice, the system was worked out.

A drain was placed at the north end of the field connecting with the sewer on E. El Dorado-st. and two lines of drain tile extend from the corners of the field to the drain. The land is to be graded so that the water will flow to the drain lines and the pipe lines will carry it to the sewer. The drain tile are placed about a foot beneath the ground and are surrounded with cinders. The cinders prevent the dirt from stopping the cracks between the pipes. The water soaks through the ground to the cinders and then into the pipes where it is carried to the drain and the sewer and carried off.

In former years the water would form a pond at the east end of the grounds, often soaking into the cellars of near by homes.

RED CROSS REPORT SHOWS BIG RESULT FOR MENASHA FOLKS

Eighty-two Appeals for Help Given Attention in April, Secretary Says

Menasha—Directors of the Menasha Chapter of the American Red Cross held a dinner meeting Wednesday evening at Hotel Menasha at which arrangements were made for the presentation of a play "Nothing But The Truth," for the benefit of the Mississippi sufferers.

Miss Edna Robertson presented her monthly report which showed she handled $2 cases in April. This record exceeds the general average despite the fact that 10 years have elapsed since the war. The majority of cases were those of former service men or their families who have been accustomed to appeal to the local chapter for advice, service or assistance.

"It is a matter of economic interest to the community to know," Miss Robertson said in her report, "that $2,000 was secured in 13 known cases during the month of April. One award made by the government in favor of the aged mother of a deceased war veteran amounted to $12 with an additional award of $30 a month for the remainder of her life, or so long as a state of dependency exists."

Of the $2 cases handled 50 called at the office or home of the secretary after hours of service; 104 interviews were given 50 out of the $2 cases involved correspondence with agencies out of the city, 55 originating in the home chapter.

"The above service has been carried on," said Miss Robertson, under the pressure of the Mississippi flood service emergency during the latter part of the month. The chapter is without funds to pay for April and May service and has been given to understand that it may expect no support from the community to continue the service."

Haven't taken medicine for two months. Am still well. Gained 30 pounds." Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Sold by all druggists. Locally at Voigt's Drug Co. adv.

GIVE PLAY TO RAISE FLOOD RELIEF QUOTA

Edwin Booth Players Will Present "Nothing but the Truth" as a Benefit

Menasha—Menasha's quota of $1,000 for the Mississippi disaster relief fund has not yet been secured, although funds are coming in to Victor Suess, local treasurer of the Red Cross. In order to provide for the remainder and to secure a possible margin all the citizens of Menasha are invited to a benefit play to be given by the Edwin Booth Players under the direction of Gilbert Hill, entitled, "Nothing But the Truth," at the new Congregational church gymnasium, Tuesday evening, May 31. All the civic organizations are sponsoring this movement. Economics, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs are backing the directors of Menasha Chapter of the Red Cross to make this occasion a success. Mayor N. G. Remmel will present the claims of the Red Cross. The players are giving their services without charge. The gymnasium has been loaned for the occasion and all the proceeds will be used for relief work.

WOULD GIVE COUNTIES CONTROL OF ROAD FUND

Madison—(AP)—The committee on highways will introduce a new highway bill next week giving to counties full control of funds allotted to counties for state aid improvements and for state highway maintenance.

The new bill will eliminate, as far as possible, duplicate inspection of such work by the counties and the state and its supporters contend will save, on inspection costs alone, more than $100,000 annually.

The proposed bill will in no way affect the expenditures and control of federal aid improvements, free fund improvements or the construction of large bridges, but will give the county board and county highway committee authority over the funds allotted to the county for other purposes.

WRONG ADVICE

It was in one of the less sedate night clubs that a member slipped into a state of intoxication and, in bewilderment, sought one of his fellows. "Charles," he said, "It's four o'clock and I'm tight. What shall I do?" "If I were you, old man, I'd go home." The unsteady one gathered his dignity. "Sir," he said, when I want your advice, I'll ask for it." — New Yorker.

MALPRACTICE SUIT AGAINST DOCTOR IS SETTLED FOR $3,500

Former Little Chute Woman
Secures Settlement in Circuit Court Case

A malpractice case brought by a former Little Chute woman against an Oshkosh physician, in which the plaintiff sought $10,000 damages, has been settled for $3,500, it was learned Thursday.

Mrs. Mayme Corcoran, Beloit, was the plaintiff, and the defendant was Dr. W. P. Zimslony, Oshkosh. Mrs. Corcoran was injured in an automobile accident about two years ago, and was removed to an Oshkosh hospital for treatment. Dr. Zimslony, an interne, attended the Beloit woman.

When Mrs. Corcoran's husband was notified of the accident, he was informed that his wife's injuries were not serious, shock and some broken ribs being the extent of her hurts. It was alleged. She was dismissed from the hospital about three weeks later.

When her condition failed to improve Chicago physicians were consulted, and an operation for a dislocated vertebra was performed on her, the plaintiff alleged. Had the exact nature of her trouble been diagnosed accurately when she was in the Oshkosh hospital, an operation would not have been necessary, and she would have suffered no serious consequences, it was said in the complaint. The delay in correcting her injury has resulted in a permanent disability, it was alleged.

The plaintiff charged that it was through negligence on the part of the interne in the Oshkosh hospital that her injury was not discovered by him.

The case started in circuit court of Winnebago-co about a year ago. Keller and Keller, Appleton, were attorneys for the plaintiff, and Bouck, Hilton, Kluwin and Dempsey represented the defendant.

KEEPING AN OPEN MIND

President Coolidge, in welcoming to Washington the 78th annual meeting of the American Medical association, paid a tribute to medical science not usually accorded it by the public. Perhaps the lack of recognition of its achievements by the popular mind is, as the president suggests, because they are so great they are beyond "computation and comprehension." Without a doubt, medical science has done more to benefit the human race than any other. It has prolonged the average life of man, it has conquered diseases that formerly took the lives of millions and it has to its credit almost miraculous results in the "correction and restraint of every ill to which the human body is prey. No greater sacrifices have been made than by many of those who have volunteered in the cause of medical progress. Laboratory researches have led to the most amazing discoveries, until today man is given hope that it is only a question of time when the dominion over disease will be complete, and the functions of the body will be so well known that almost anything can be done for the conservation of health and life. The astounding fact about the growth of medical science is that it has taken place in less than a century—the most of it within a period of fifty years.

Perhaps the most important thing the president said in praising the work of the American Medical association and of the medical profession in general was: "If there is any one thing which the progress of science has taught us, it is the necessity of an open mind." The lack of an open mind has been the bane of the world from the beginning. Many were put to death or imprisoned in the middle ages and subsequently for daring to express truths which scientific exploration had disclosed. Both the church and the state have been guilty of vainly fighting science, and in deadly ignorance, superstition and intolerance. We are shocked and amazed at the wars that have been waged on the discoveries of science in the past, and at the struggle the human mind has had to make for freedom and light. There are still traces of bigotry and intolerance alive today, but they have no place in modern civilization; they are a relic of the stupid and blind ages. We should keep an open mind toward every contribution and attainment of science, most of all toward those of medical science. The greatest curse man has suffered is neither persecution, bondage nor war, but the torture, both mental and physical, of disease.

GOOD NEWS FOR TRAVELERS

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad is obtaining much publicity over the fact that it is to put on a roller-bearing train this week between Chicago and the Twin cities. It is announced that with these bearings and additional devices it will be possible to operate the train with extraordinary smoothness, and without the jerks that normally accompany starts and stops. The cars have been modified in other respects.

The traveling public between Chicago and Minneapolis is to be congratulated on this prospect of peaceful and comfortable travel. It is a belated recognition of the travelers' rights and a tardy exhibition of railroad initiative and enterprise. We should have had such trains twenty years ago. A night's travel on most railroads is enough to keep most persons in bed the following day. There is no justification for the assault and battery that is committed on passengers of sleeping trains. Mr. and Mrs. Shelley's celebrated "six weeks' tour" was made under not much greater hardships than the twentieth-century traveler experiences. Speed, too, is ridiculously slow.

There have been fewer improvements in railway construction and operation than in perhaps any other field of American enterprises. Even printing machinery, with a little advances as it has made, has outstripped railroad development. It is time the railways all over the country did something to improve themselves and their service.

ENFORCING THE PROHIBITION LAW

In a lengthy article in the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern, F. B. Keeffe, district attorney of Winnebago county repeats in substance his remarks before the state district attorneys' convention at Green Bay last week, in which he scored District Attorney Raymond E. Evrard of Brown county for saying that it was virtually impossible to enforce the prohibition law in counties where the majority did not want it enforced. He calls this attitude "highly dangerous, and out of harmony with the spirit of the constitution."

Aside from the propriety of berating with some heat the opinion of his host and presumably of his host's county, there is a question whether Mr. Keeffe's remonstrance adds anything constructive to the prohibition question or to law enforcement. While condemning statements characterizing the law as unenforceable, he frankly stated that in his own county he had made no attempt to prosecute makers or sellers of beer and wine.

On the other hand, Mr. Evrard's plain talk, in which he called a spade a spade, and voiced without hesitancy things which heretofore have only been tacitly admitted, seemed to meet general approval among the district attorneys. Many of them commended his stand and declared, in effect, that until they were given a workable law they could only present in the best manner possible the liquor cases of their respective counties, even though faced with the practical certainty of an acquittal. Condemnation of the employment of agencies other than the regular law enforcement machinery was unanimous.

Though Mr. Evrard's remarks may be theoretically wrong, few will deny that they are practically true. Conversely, Mr. Keeffe's stand, though doubtless theoretically right, fails to provide for a practical application. And the district attorneys, smarting under the rebukes of "dry" constituents for failure to perform their theoretical duty, were quick to welcome Mr. Evrard's plain-spoken exposition of the practical difficulties in the way.

The value, if any, in the whole controversy doubtless lies in bringing an opinion as to the workability of prohibition from the officers best qualified to give it; officers whose integrity as a class is scarcely open to question. The belief expressed in Green Bay, with Mr. Keeffe as about the only dissenter, that the present law is unworkable, is worthy of thought.

OLD MASTERS

There's a whisper down the field where the year has shot her yield,
And the reeks stand gray to the sun,
Singing: "Over then, come over, for the bee has quit the clover,
And your English summer's done."

You have heard the beat of the off-shore wind,
And the thrash of the deep-sea rain,
You have heard the song—how long? how long?
Pull out on the trail again!

Ha! down with the Tents of Shem, dear lass,
We've seen the seasons through,
And it's time to turn on the old trail, our own trail,
The old trail.

Pull out, pull out on the Long Trail—the trail that is always new!
It's North you may run to the hime-ringed sun,
Or south to the blind Horn's hate;
Or East all the way into Mississippi Bay,
Or West to the Golden Gate;

Where the blindest buffets hold good, dear lass,
And the wildest tales are true,
And the men bulk big on the old trail, our own trail,
The old trail.

And life runs large on the Long Trail—the trail that is always new.
—Rudyard Kipling: From "The Long Trail"

SORES IN THE MOUTH

Canker sores (pronounced canker) probably occurred long before the invention of profanity; indeed some authorities suspect canker sores may have inspired the man who introduced profanity and oh my. This is about the extent of my knowledge of the pathology of canker sores. Now I'll add a few conjectures if I may. I fancy the canker sores are produced by trauma. You know what that means. The trauma may be from too vigorous use of toothbrush from accidental biting of tongue or cheek, from excessively hot or cold foods or beverages or from some rough or jagged tooth or denture. The little injury having been inflicted, trust your old tonsils or adenoids or sinus or gums to furnish some temporarily disengaged streptococci that will gladly attack the injured mucous membrane and make the little ulcers a complete success. Really it is very simple.

I may not be so much on the pathology of canker sores, but follow my treatment and you'll wear smiles. Once daily just touch each sore with a mixture of half acetone and half tincture of iodine (on a cotton wrapped toothpick); and many times a day, especially before and after food, gently rinse the mouth with a comfortably warmed solution of one teaspoonful of borie acid in one pint of water. Of course lay off the toothbrush and the tooth dope while you have canker sores—in fact, if I dared, I'd go even further than that.

Leukoplakia is the ingesting name we doctors give to white patches in the mouth, caused by tobacco. There is only one treatment for leukoplakia—discontinue the tobacco. These tobacco patches, when neglected, may eventually become the seat of epithelioma (cancer). Formerly leukoplakia was often mistaken for syphilitic lesions.

Cancer (pronounced kanser) of lip, tongue or cheek lining is usually the least malignant type, epithelioma, perhaps years in developing at the site of any old or prolonged irritation as from neglected rough or broken teeth or faulty dentures, slight burns from smoking, the irritation of an old pipe. In any one case where the least suspicion of cancer arises, the teeth should be thoroughly cleaned by the dentist and smoothed; tobacco should be given up if it is used; the lesions should receive proper medical treatment. Radium or X-ray treatments will cure epithelioma if employed before the neighboring lymph nodes have become involved. Radical surgical excision of the lesion in lip or tongue and the affected neighboring lymph nodes is the only effective treatment for epithelioma when the disease has been long dallied with. There's a fool born every minute, also a quack to sell the fool a sure cure for cancer.

Syphilis may produce mouth lesions in any stage, occasionally the primary sore (chancre, pronounced shanker) occurs on the lip or tongue, where inoculation or infection occurs from kissing or from the use of the syphilitic person's pipe or other saliva contaminated article and may be mistaken for an obstinate "cold sore." In the second stage of syphilis contagious sores called mucous patches are common in the mouth and throat, usually accompanying some skin rash. In the late stage of syphilis sometimes a large ulcer in the mouth follows a gumma, but often this is little if at all infectious. One of the risks the lackwits who indulge in "petting" must take is the risk of syphilitic infection, which is not limited to any class or condition but is as common as the persons who engage in this morbid sport.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Old Dr. Brady's Old Fashioned Remedy

Upon your suggestion my sister is taking flax seeds, about three level teaspoonsful in water every morning. She has always been constipated and her case has been very obstinate, but I am glad to tell you that she is being helped greatly by the flax seeds and has not taken a pill since she began the use of them. She wants to thank you very much. (E. H.)

Answer—Now if you can get sister to rolling herself a nice string of somersaults each night and morning, in a little while she'll be ready to testify that old Dr. Brady's old fashioned remedies are not so foolish as they are sometimes made out to be. (Copyright John F. Dille company.)

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

FLAG DAY CELEBRATION

Washington D. C. — Flag Day, June 14, will be celebrated more extensively and more impressively this year than ever before if plans now going forward are realized. This will be the 130th anniversary of the birth of the Stars and Stripes and it is regarded as especially fitting that it be the occasion for elaborate patriotism in the United States.

George B. Lockwood of this city, editor of the National Republic, initiated the movement and he says that hundreds of inquiries have been received as to the best methods for organizing and holding such celebrations. In many communities sunrise meetings will be held, he says in school children, and in some, general patriotic parades.

"No community in the United States should permit June 14 to pass without a patriotic celebration worthy of the great occasion," says Mr. Lockwood. "Everywhere especially there should be a general display of the flag, in honor of the day when the Continental Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes as the flag of the free."

Fifty years ago the centennial anniversary of the flag was fittingly observed in the larger cities of the country. Upon request from Washington all public buildings floated the flag on that day. In Philadelphia there were exercises in Independence Hall and at the old home of Betsy Ross, where the first flag was constructed. In Boston, the feature of the celebration was a display of the original Fort Mifflin flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner" and in other cities there were impressive expressions of the sentiment that attaches to the national colors.

All this led shortly to the movement to have June 14 made an annual and national holiday, or at least to bring about its appropriate observance throughout the country. Dr. B. J. Cigrand, then a teacher in Fredonia, Wis., was one of the leaders of this movement and exploited the idea in numerous newspaper and magazine articles. Later he was active in the formation of an Illinois flag-day association and then the president and guiding spirit of a national organization. For some time in Illinois, and notably in Chicago, the third Saturday in June was observed as Flag Day, but after the National Flag Day Society was formed June 14 was generally celebrated.

George Balch, a teacher in a free kindergarten in New York City, Col. George A. Cantine, A. Cantine, a Civil War veteran of Newburg, N. Y., and Le Roy Van Horn, a Chicago G. A. R. member, were other leaders who contributed much toward bringing about general observance of the American flag's natal day.

At the celebration held in this city in 1914 President Woodrow Wilson made a statement as to what the flag stands for that became doubly significant in the light of events that followed speedily — the European war and this nation's participation in the world conflagration.

"This flag for the future is meant to stand for the just use of undisputed national power," he said. "No nation is ever going to doubt our power to assert its rights, and we should lay it to heart that no nation shall ever henceforth doubt our purpose to put it to the highest uses to which a great emblem of justice and government can be put."

"It is henceforth to stand for self-possession for dignity for the assertion of the right of one nation to serve the other nations of the world — an emblem that will not condescend to be used for the purposes of aggression and self-aggrandizement; that is too great to be debased by selfishness; that has vindicated its right to be honored by all nations of the world and feared by none who do righteousness."

Two years later President Wilson issued a proclamation calling for a nationwide Flag Day observance, and within the next twelve-month the momentous decision had been reached that was to take the American flag to Europe as the inspiration of American fighting men, there never to be lowered in defeat nor even soiled by the stains of a retreat.

THE ORIGIN OF THE FLAG

In 1850 the English poet, Martin Tupper, suggested that the American flag with its stripes and stars was evolved from the Washington coat-of-arms, and that idea was widely accepted. However, research has shown that the stripes as well as the stars were to be found in colonial and continental flags long before George Washington figured in the flag-creating of the country of which he was to become the father.

Late in 1775, the Continental Congress constituted Benjamin Franklin, Pennsylvania; Benjamin Harrison, Virginia; and Thomas Lynch, South Carolina, a committee to deal with the necessity for a national standard. The committee journeyed to Boston, arriving there December 13, to confer with General Washington and other leaders of the Revolutionary forces. At that time it was by no means settled that the colonies would assert their independence. On the contrary, many of the leaders, including Washington, hoped for reconciliation with the mother country, England, with concessions that would satisfy the colonies. Accordingly, after debate that was rather heated, it was decided that the new flag should contain symbols of loyalty to England combined with a symbol of the unity of the colonies, and the one designed had the thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and the blue field in which, instead of the stars, were the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew, strictly British emblems.

Known as the Grand Union flag, that standard was raised by Washington at Cambridge on January 2, 1776. But it was not long before it was decided that there was no occasion longer to manifest a semblance of loyalty to England, so a new flag was in order. Congress then created a new committee, composed of Washington, Robert Morris, and Col. George Ross, to devise a flag for the United States of North America, an with the aid of Betsy Ross the committee after many months brought forth the Stars and Stripes which was approved by Congress on June 14, 1777.

The new flag was not used immediately, however, and the Continental forces fought under the old Grand Union flag until August 2, following, when a hurriedly improvised Stars and Stripes was unfurled over Fort Mifflin at Fort Mifflin, N. Y.

The resolution adopted by Congress in approving the new flag Saturday June 14, 1777, read: "Resolved, that the flag of the United States be 13 stripes alternate red and white, that the Union be 13 stars white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

In 1795 Congress decreed that the flag should consist of 15 stripes, alternate red and white, with the union of 15 white stars in a blue field, but in 1818 a third law enacted which provided for a flag of 13 stripes, with 20 stars in the union and a new star to be added upon the admission of each new State.

STAGE And SCREEN

NEW LAUGH SPECIAL STARS EDDIE CANTOR

Upcoming comedy with a strong touch of pathos and a keen sense of human psychology these are the ingredients that Eddie Cantor has used in the creation of "Special Delivery" his second starring vehicle for Paramount which opened at Fischers Appleton Theatre.

Funnier than the stage play was his screen version of "Kid Boots" but funnier still is his "Special Delivery" with its romance and experiences of a rookie postman. Cantor is just naturally funny anyhow. Give him such a role as Eddie, the letter carrier, and then let him work out his own ideas, and he is a riot. The interesting thing about him, though, is the fact that you always find yourself laughing with and not at him.

That is essentially Cantor. No matter how funny he is, he always elicits your sympathy for the character, his portraiture. From the very moment that you first see him as the misfit mail clerk you can't help feeling a bit sorry for him while at the same time you can't help laughing at the situations and predicaments he gets into; and he gets into plenty.

"Special Delivery" is a picture that you will want to see. It is Cantor at his best and if he follows through in his future pictures along the lines established in this one the screen has found a new type of comedy and a new type of comedian.

Supporting Cantor is an unusually well rounded cast. Jobyna Ralston is the girl, sweet, charming and attractive. After her three years as leading woman for Harold Lloyd, she has entered the free-lance field and this is her first picture following completion of her contract with the be-spectacled star. William Powell, plays the heavy, in his usual suave manner. Mary Carr fits into the picture for a moment in

OUTLINE POLICIES FOR "Y" CAMP AT ONAWAY

A general policy for the annual camp of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. at Onaway Island, Waukegan, from July 21 to 30, will be outlined at a meeting of the camp committee at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon at the association. General plans for the camp also will be started. Letters were sent to prospective campers Thursday by John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary, who is camp director.

One of those mother roles that she does so well. Jack Dougherty, Donald Keith, Victor Fotel and Paul Kelly complete the cast. William Goodrich directed with an extraordinary sense of comedy values that establishes him as one of the great laugh-film makers of the screen world.

"THE BRONCHO TWISTER" Some of the most beautiful sequences ever seen in a western picture are shown in Fox Films' "The Broncho Twister" at the New Bijou Theatre three days starting today. This latest Tom Mix starring vehicle is a thrilling tale of western ranges, that is far above the average in story material and plot construction. In fact, it is one of the most motivated films shown locally in some time.

It is a colorful romance of adventure with many nerve tingling situations, moments of high suspense and comedy of a very high order. Tom Mix is even more daring than usual. In fact, some of his stunts appear dangerous in the extreme.

The story deals with a marine who returns from the war to find his father desperately fighting an outlaw ranchman who attempts to drive him off the range. Tom Mix frustrates this and while doing so falls in love with the ranchman's stopdaughter.

NOW IN MANITOWOC THE CONVICT SHIP OLDEST SHIP AFLOAT HAS BEEN VISITED BY MORE THAN TWENTY MILLION PEOPLE

THIS WONDERFUL VESSEL HAS MADE HISTORY THROUGH THREE CENTURIES

She marked the beginning and the end of England's monstrous penal system.

She has held lurid horrors and dreadful iniquities beside which even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into insignificance.

She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat out of that dreadful "Fleet of Ocean Hells" which sailed the Seven Seas in 1780 A. D.

She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their sufferings from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them.

Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping post, the manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the lead-tipped cat-o-nine tails, the coffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow-man.

From keel to topmast she cries aloud the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the history of human progress.

The Opinion of the Press

BOSTON GLOBE—"The 'Success' has created a record in Atlantic voyaging. No other ship of anything approaching her great age could even have attempted the task; it certainly speaks wonders for the builders of the wooden walls of olden days. It is undoubtedly the most noteworthy feat of seamanship since Christopher Columbus sailed his gallant little fleet to fame in 1492."

ARTHUR BRISBANE, of the Boston American, in a full page editorial, which was reproduced in ten other leading daily papers throughout the States, devoted his brilliant pen to a picture of the Convict Ship "Success" as a vivid and striking lesson in the progress of humanity and civilization. Describing the Convict Ship as a sad but valuable lesson to the people of America, he wrote:

"When you study these scenes of cruelty and atrocious torture, when you realize they have disappeared forever from this earth, except in isolated savage corners of the world, where men revert to animalism, and when you realize that these scenes of cruelty, brutal as they are, were nothing compared with what preceded them, you realize that this world DOES advance."

"... It shows what government did to the poor, the ignorant, the helpless."

"... We can thank God that the Convict Ship, with the men tortured and branded, is today an exhibition intended to educate and no longer a dreadful reality, planned to punish and brutalize."

DR. FRANK CRANE, the brilliant editorial writer of THE NEW YORK GLOBE, in a leading article in that paper, dated May 2, 1918, said:

"... Here you see punishment raised to its highest power. The record of the cruelties here witnessed by the English people is so frightful that no one can be blamed for not believing it; the truth is more incredible than the wildest fiction. It is impossible to believe the story, yet it is perfectly authentic."

"Out of the past this ghost ship sails to us. Its solid oak we can touch. Its rusty iron manacles are all too tangible. Its hideous cells our feet may explore. Its appalling record, books and documents we can see with our own eyes."

NEW YORK EVENING SUN—"One of the strangest ships in the world—a strange ship because it is hard to realize that the inhumanity of which she is a floating reminder could exist under the rule of any Nation itself civilized."

BOSTON TRAVELER—"The 'Success' today is as the hulks they (John Boyle O'Reilly and James Jeffery Roche) pictured: the same in her barred cells, the same in her gibbet-halter, the same in all ways except that the prisoners are not inside her to clutch the gratings which close her hatchways and cry out to the square patch of sky above them."

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL—"It is indeed fortunate for mankind that the 'Success' is still afloat and available to public inspection. No museum in the world contains the same relics as may be seen in the 'Success.' Around the high bulwarks are suspended all the agencies of tortures human minds could invent more than a century ago. ... An inspection of the 'Success' is not amusing, it is not terrorizing. It does impress you; never can you forget it. It is an education in history, in the development of humanity."

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT—"Let us send this convict hulk, this eloquent rebuke to penal systems, around the world. She is a floating parable of the crimes of man against man. And when she has finished her mission search-out the deepest soundings in the Pacific and there sink her and the thing she signifies in a thousand fathoms of dishonored oblivion."

The Convict Ship "Success" is the Greatest and Most Extraordinary Exhibition That Ever Visited America. It is a Theme for the Pen of a Dante. When You Walk Her Decks, Grooved with the Chains of Her Miserable Victims, the Past Will Speak to You Its Sad and Mournful Lesson, but You Will Leave Feeling Better Because You Live in a Better Age.

The Convict Ship is lighted throughout with electricity, so that her manifold wonders can be comfortably inspected by night as well as by day. A corps of high-class guides and lecturers are always on duty to conduct visitors over her three decks brimful of historic and educational interest.

U. W. OBSERVATORY TELESCOPE FAMOUS

Instrument Is Most Modernly Equipped of Its Size in Entire World

Madison—(P)—Scientific rejuvenation has rebuilt the six-inch telescope in Washburn Observatory at the University of Wisconsin into the most elaborately equipped telescope of its size in the world.

The veteran of celestial exploration has served sciences for more than half a century and has drawn its share of fame because of service in important astronomical discoveries.

Its fame rests partly upon its use in 1870 by S. W. Burnham in the discovery of double stars overlooked by astronomers using much larger telescopes. At that time it was part of the Yerkes Observatory equipment at Williams Bay.

In 1881, the telescope was purchased for Washburn Observatory, and since has been used by astronomers of the state university. Here it was used by George S. Comstock, now professor emeritus of the university. In his celebrated determination of the aberration of light—the apparent shift of a star due to the motion of the earth in its orbit.

The old telescope has now undergone a metamorphosis in the university shops, and has emerged equipped with all the devices generally used only on much larger instruments, and with some new machinery invented by O. E. Romare, university chief mechanician, who for 18 years was mechanician at the Yerkes Observatory. Mr. Romare designed the new equipment, and M. H. Kildier, university machinist, did the construction in the university shops.

The astronomer using the rebuilt telescope has only to bring the star he wishes to observe into focus. Then, by closing a button switch which hangs close by the telescope, he starts electrically driven machinery which clamps the telescope in position, and carries it along the path of the star until the switch is opened.

LEGISLATURE COSTS MORE THAN MEETINGS

Madison—(P)—It costs more to run the legislature than it does to legislate.
There may be some technicalities which may cause argument in the above statement but the expense account proves that "business doesn't lie."
The state pays $320 a day for salary of its 133 legislators while the expense account for the "hired help" amounts to $196, more than a $100 additional pay each day.

The average cost for the upkeep of the Wisconsin legislature during the last three sessions has been $1,557 per day and the average length of session has been 170 days. Today is the 19th day of the present session.

CONGREGATIONALISTS GO TO CHURCH CONFERENCE

A delegation of members of the First Congregational church will go to Omaha Monday to attend the meeting of the national council of the church.
Probably nine or ten members will be present. The five who have announceed they will go are F. J. Harwood, moderator of the council, Mrs. T. E.
Orlison, Dr. H. E. Peabody, Dr. and Mrs. John Wilson.

Mr. Harwood has been moderator of the council for the last 15 months and will complete his term at this meeting. The regular term of moderator extends for two years, but the time of the national council meeting has been changed from the fall to the spring, thus shortening Mr. Har-wood's period of office.

The general fund. The disbursements from the general fund last month were $142,649.58. The public schools spent $32,717.03 during April, the report shows. The balance on hand March 31, was $551,945.71. Receipts for the month were $37,452.54. The treasury now has a balance of $688,457.59.

PREPARATION OF MEALS EXPLAINED AT TWO MEETINGS

Care of Mother and Children Is Subject of Address by Speaker

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

At meetings of leaders of the Seymour and Shiocton groups of women, studying home economics, Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively, Miss Edna Huffman, representing the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, presented demonstrations in cooking, the choice of items in balanced meals and the serving of meals.

Miss Huffman also talked at length on the Preparation of Meals and Feeding of Mother and Child. Through the Pre-School Age, under the subheadings, old and new ideas of bringing up children, prenatal care and feeding of mother, the daily diet, exercise of mother, care and diet of mother through the nursing period, factors other than food which affect milk production, infant feeding through the first six months, infant feeding from six to twelve months, weaning from six to twelve months, neglected age of children, from one to six years of age. Food, exercise and care of mother and child were the high points in Miss Huffman's talk.

PREPARE SPECIAL DISHES
After Miss Huffman had made suggestions for the selection of the items of a well rounded meal and had presented the rules for the preparation of each dish, each leader was assigned a special dish to prepare, and a meal made of the dishes was served. The demonstration lessons of Miss Huffman and her talks were so elaborately outlined, and her presentation of her subjects was so clear, that no leader will have any trouble in the repetition of the demonstrations and talks.

Each one of the leaders of the Seymour group who heard Miss Huffman will later carry to the demonstration lessons and talks to a group of women in her own community. This not only the Seymour group of leader but every other group in Outagamie county will do.

The leaders who attended the Seymour meeting are: Mrs. J. Timm, Mrs. George Arnoldussen, Mrs. R. Daniels, Mrs. William Wendt, Mrs. Victor Mueller, Mrs. Walter Ohm, Mrs. Jack Lasky, Mrs. Emil Kleist, Mrs. Charles Wussow, Mrs. Joseph Klein, Mrs. Warren Barclay, Mrs. Reuben Mielke, Mrs. Otto Mielke, Mrs. Alan Fowell, Mrs. Otto Roepke, and R. J. Doersel.

The 16 leaders who attended the Shiocton meeting are as follows: Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. P. O. Town, Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. W. L. Laird, Mrs. C. C. Schwab, Mrs. M. E. Laid, Mrs. C. Morse, Mrs. E. Locke, Miss E. Laird, Mrs. G. A. Jolin, Mrs. C. Wilcox, Mrs. A. Mack, Mrs. H. Jones, Mrs. G. A. Skene, Mrs. F. H. Colburn and Mrs. R. Bruyette.

The Seymour meeting was held Tuesday at the residence of George Arnoldussen, route 4, while the Shiocton group met Wednesday at the high school.

BADGER FARMERS TO ATTEND FIELD DAY NEXT MONTH

University of Wisconsin to Hold "Open House" for Visitors on June 20

Madison—(AP)—Appreciating as never before that farming needs the results of research, farmers of southern Wisconsin are planning to inspect their agricultural experiment station here on June 20.

This will be the Farmers' Field day at which time the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin will hold "open house" for farmers and their friends. The results of research combined with the extension and teaching activities of the state institution, will be set forth by staff members. Special emphasis will be given to practices that are proving successful on farms in southern counties.

Among the headline attractions on the day's program is a discussion of "Nutrition" by E. H. Hart, of the department of agricultural chemistry. Specialists in agronomy, animal husbandry, home economics, forestry, rural life, horticulture and poultry will conduct the various phases of the day's program. The interest of southern Wisconsin farmers, a special program has been prepared for the women, and sports have been planned for the boys and girls under the supervision of T. L. Bewick, state club leader.

Commemorative exercises at the state university will be held late in the afternoon at historic Camp Randall, and plans have been made for the farm folks to attend this event. "Special tours of farms and their surroundings will be made from many of the counties in the southern half of the state," reports John Swenchart, land clearing specialist and who has charge of the program. "There will be something of interest for every member of the family."

"Farmers' Field day is the first of a series of events held in widely scattered sections of the state in order that farmers can see first hand the latest developments of the investigations at the state experiment stations. The Madison day is held first as it is in the southern part of the state, and as the season progresses, similar events will be held at the branch experiment stations at Hancock, Marshfield, Spooner, Ashland and Sturgeon Bay."

DALE COMPANY SHIPS 32 CARS LIVESTOCK

Dale—The Dale Shipping company has shipped 32 cars of livestock from this station since Jan. 1. Not including the two cars shipped Wednesday, the cars already shipped carried 1,095 calves, 42 head of cattle and 337 hogs. For these animals, the owners were paid $33,843.35, net.

USE POTATO PLANTER TO APPLY FERTILIZER

Dale—As they are experimenting with commercial fertilizer on potato fields and have no tools for applying it, growers are using a potato planter of the Dale Implement company provided with a special fertilizer attachment, to make the experiments. The planter is on the move constantly in the fields and on the road from one grower's farm to that of another to the extent that the implement company often loses track of it, and a new applicant for its use is compelled to go out and find it. Corn growers are also experimenting with the commercial fertilizer in the corn fields the first time this spring and some of them are using a corn cultivator provided with a special fertilizer attachment.

PRICE OF MILK AT PEAK DURING APRIL

Higher Average Than for Any Corresponding Month in Last Seven Years

Madison—(AP)—The average farm price for milk in Wisconsin during the month of April was higher than for any corresponding month in the last seven years, the state department of agriculture reported last week.

An average of $2.05 per hundred pounds of milk was received by the farmers of the state for the month as compared with $1.81 a year ago, according to the report and livestock reporting service of the department.

During the past six months farm milk prices for the state have been well above the two preceding winters. On an average, the price for the last half year was 11 cents per hundred pounds above a year ago and 30 cents above the price of two years ago.

January, 2.25; February, 2.23; March, 2.22; April, 2.11; May, 2.05.

Since about half of the Wisconsin farm income is derived from milk, the department points out, the improvement in prices is significant. Cows in the state annually produce ten billion pounds of milk.

PLAY FOX AND GEESE AT HICKORY GROVE PICNIC

Dale—The Hickory Grove school, joint district No. 6, closed Monday with a picnic attended by pupils and a large number of parents. One of the interesting features of the program was a game of fox and geese put on by Miss Mildred Gettlinger, teacher, who several years ago, as a pupil of the school, learned and took part in the game.

In Monday's game Miss Gettlinger lead a flock of 15 geese in a cross-country chase from one cover to the next, chalking arrows on fences and buildings on the course. A half hour after the geese started, a pack of 15 foxes, under Miss Lydian Beckman as leader, was unleashed and it dashed away in pursuit of the flock. The hunt was noisy and long in so far as the foxes were concerned, but very quiet on the part of the flock and ended with the capture of the geese.

DOOR-CO ALFALFA SAID TO BE WINTERKILLED

Sturgeon Bay—"Three-fourths of the alfalfa in Door-county winter-killed," says D. F. Rusy, agricultural agent of Door-co. Mr. Rusy is making the school district the unit of club organizations and usually organizes the boys and girls at meetings of the P. T. A. In some cases the P. T. A. acts as sponsors of the clubs and in each case can be depended upon as a staunch backer of the club. He will continue organizing clubs until the schools close for the summer vacation.

For projects, the boys are choosing calves, pigs, potatoes and gardening, and the girls are choosing sewing, cooking and canning. Over 300 club members are already enrolled in Door-co.

Oneida County Ex-Official Tells of Experience

Former County Treasurer P. J. Cain now fully recovered. Tanlac put him on his feet when all else failed

For many years Mr. Cain served Oneida County as Treasurer. His home is at 309 North Brown Street, Rhineclaire, Wis. His record in office was, for Mr. Cain a host of friends. Many of these good friends were worried about his poor health and amazed at his quick and complete recovery. "For 2 years I suffered untold agony," he tells them. "The very odor of food sickened me and what little I could eat lay like a stone in my stomach."

"Every morning I would rise with that awful pain inside me, and I had neither heart nor strength for the day's work. The smallest task was drudgery then. I grew thin, weak and sorrowful, and returned to the house exhausted each evening. I knew I couldn't stand it much longer and made up my mind to win back my natural robust health."

"Seeing what it had done for other sick folks, I gave Tanlac a trial and can truthfully say it gave me relief from the fire. The awful weight and pain in my stomach soon disappeared and my appetite came back. I was able to sleep naturally again for the first time in a year. Now I'm strong and well and go through 'the hardest day's work with ease. I've put on 13 lbs. of firm wholesome flesh and enjoy the best health of my life. Tanlac will always have a warm place in my heart."

What Tanlac did for Mr. Cain, it has done for many thousands of others. Over a hundred thousand grateful friends have written to tell us, "If you're in poor health, try Tanlac. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold."

Tomorrow's MOTOR FUEL is here TODAY!

AUTOMOBILE experts and motor fuel engineers predict that the motor fuel of tomorrow will have these characteristics:

- 1—Quick starting in all weather. Less crankcase dilution.
- 2—Vaporization at lower temperatures than present-day gasoline.
- 3—Suitable volatility that will conform as closely as possible to an ideal standard.
- 4—Freedom from knock.
- 5—The formation of less carbon.
- 6—The development of greater power.
- 7—Higher rate of utilization — greater economy; in other words, more mileage per gallon.
- 8—Less heating of motor in hot weather, when the going is hard.

That, they say, is tomorrow's ideal motor fuel. And that is what Delcol Benzol is today! This better motor fuel has all of the characteristics mentioned above! It is gasoline's successor! — tomorrow's motor fuel, here, today!

Ask for Delcol Benzol by this name—accept no substitute.

COUNCIL HOLDS UP SEWER ASSESSMENT ON E. CALUMET-ST

Aldermen Oppose Charging Entire Cost to Property on One Side of Street

Final action on assessment of benefits and damages for a sewer on E. Calumet-st was deferred and the matter referred back to the board of public works meeting Wednesday evening. Alderman R. P. McGillan objected to having the entire cost of the sewer charged to the property owners on the north side of Calumet-st if the sewer is placed in the center of the street. He said that the north side of this street is in the city limits while property on the south side is in another county. If the property owners on the north side are obliged to pay the entire cost, residents on the other side will get free sewers if the city later takes in this territory, he argued. He contended the entire cost should not be charged against these property owners unless the sewers is placed on the north side of the street.

"The property owners agreed to pay the entire cost when they applied for the sewer," Alderman Thompson said, "and I believe they should be held to their promise."

Thompson said the council had made a practice of charging the entire cost of sewers to the property owners on one side of a street which marks the city limits and if the city pays half the cost of the Calumet-st sewer it would be setting a new precedent.

"The sewer on Wisconsin-ave was only partially charged to the property owners," Alderman McGillan said. "It would not be setting a precedent in Calumet-st."

The reason the city paid half the cost of Wisconsin-ave was because the sewer was deeper than the ordinary sewer and the cost was much greater, Alderman Catlin said. He said the people on Wisconsin-ave had paid $1.50 per foot and he said the cost of the sewer on Calumet-st was not much greater than that.

Alderman Vogt charged McGillan with "defending" the people on this street only because it was in the Fourth ward.

"If Alderman Vogt will trouble to look up my record he will find that I have opposed the action every time the council put the entire cost of a sewer on the property owners living on a street which formed a city boundary," McGillan answered. "It didn't make any difference whether it was in the Fourth, Sixth, or First ward. I fought just as hard."

Alderman McGillan moved the assessment as made, charging half the cost to the city and half to the property owners be adopted and Alderman Catlin moved an amendment sending the assessment back to the board of public work for reconsideration.

An application for pavement on S. Pierce-ave from W. Fourth to W. Font-st was referred to the streets and bridges committee. Plans for the retaining wall on S. Mason-st and for the kitchen at the Alicia park tourist camp were approved.

A one-act play written by Raymond Richards, a junior at Lawrence college, was presented at convocation services this week at the school. "The Man Who Came Back" is the title of the play which was first presented at a meeting of the Sunset Players dramatic club.

COCKY TEACHERS FALL BEFORE THEIR PUPILS

The faculty baseball nine of Appleton Vocational school failed to uphold its reputation when it was defeated 19 to 17 by a picked team from the boys who attend school on Wednesday at the school grounds Wednesday afternoon. The boys were too clever with the bat and pounded two faculty batters out of the box. The heavy hitting was finally stopped when Herb Helling went on the mound and pitched a tight ball for three innings.

Noyes and Menzel, who had pitched excellent ball the day before when the faculty defeated the Tuesday boys, were wild and out of form. The boys knocked Noyes out first and then continued the slaughter and hit every ball Menzel pitched. F. O. Maeter, who played with the faculty, is said to be a professional and the boys have announced their intention of questioning his eligibility.

One member of the faculty announced Thursday morning that it was proposed to protest the game on the grounds that the score keeper made a mistake in adding.

TEACHERS TALK OVER BOOK IMPROVEMENTS

Improvements of textbooks written by teachers in the science departments of the junior high schools were suggested by science teachers at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at Appleton high school. Revisions on the books will be made for their use next year.

Cuts and diagrams to illustrate the work on astronomy were suggested to Miss Irma Roemer to improve methods of teaching the study of the stars. Revision of the text will begin immediately. Heating and ventilation were discussed in relation to a book on heating written by Frank Younger, principal of McKinley Junior High school and chairman of the science committee. Suggestions were made for improving the book next year.

The teachers agreed to write criticisms of the Chemistry book written by Francis Colvin of Wilson Junior high school. Mr. Colvin will have a leave of absence to continue his studies at the University of Chicago next year, but his revisions will be made in time for using the book the second semester.

LIONS TO MIX FUN WITH BUSINESS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

23 Clubs Will Send Representatives to Meeting at Wausau This Week

Wausau—(P)—Entertainment and fun for everyone as well as business sessions have been scheduled by the local committee in charge of the annual convention of Lions club of the Wisconsin district which convenes here Friday morning for the first session of the two days convence. There are twenty-three clubs in the state and from this number of local organizations more than 750 Lions and their ladies are expected here.

Hotel accommodations have been made rapidly the past several days and indications point to one of the largest district conventions the civic organization has entertained for many years. All roads leading into Wausau will be travelled heavily by members of the Lions clubs on Thursday night and Friday morning for most of the visitors will make the trip here from their homes by automobile.

One of the features of the two days meeting will be the banquet and ball to be given in honor of Governor Fred R. Zimmerman who will also deliver an address after the banquet to be held Saturday evening at the Rothschild pavilion. Dancing will be held after

CORAL SPECIMENS ARE FOUND NEAR GREEN BAY

Three rare and unusually large specimens of corals have been found near Green Bay and in the upper peninsula of Doorco by Dr. Rufus M. Bagg of the geology department at Lawrence college, and his students. One goes back to the Ordovician age, the professor said, probably 70,000,000 years ago when Wisconsin was still under the ocean.

Two other corals weigh between 100 and 200 pounds. These are said to be the largest variety to be found in the Cincinnati shale.

the speech making and all this is to be preceded by a concert by the junior high school band of this city. The governor will arrive Saturday morning and visit the many places he has been invited to during his stay here. Professor Albert Trevor, head of the history department of Lawrence college, has been added to the program and will talk at the stag banquet to be held at the Elks' club on Friday evening. The Elks' club is to be the general headquarters for the convention and all information can be secured there as well as at the booth in the Hotel Wausau.

On Friday afternoon there will be several divisional meetings for all officers of the district clubs. Nominations for district governor will take place Saturday morning and the election will be in the afternoon. The selection of the convention city for 1928 is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

By Anne Austin

THIS HAS HAPPENED

From the ranks of his big department store, T. Q. CURTIS chooses three pretty girls to come into his home as his wards for one year, because he believes they have worth-while ambitions. BILLY WELLS, who wants to become a concert violinist, is the only one of the three that is serious. The other two girls, NYDA LOMAX and WINNIE SHELTON, lie to enjoy the old man's generosity. A MRS. MEADOWS is hostess for the girls. Her nephew, DAL ROMANCE, a fascinating, Oriental looking man, is cleverly "playing up" to the three girls, much to the despair of Billy, who is infatuated with him. Billy accidentally overhears T. Q. Curtis tell his lawyer that he intends to adopt one of the three girls when the year is up. Billy hesitates to tell Curtis she has overheard, because she fears this will cause him to abandon his plan and the three girls may be cheated out of their golden year. She decides to tell CLAY CURTIS, son of her benefactor, what she has heard, and to ask his advice.

Clay has disinherited himself and is living with the Wells family in the poor section of town, working in an automobile factory by day and writing music at night. When Clay asks her if she would like to become the old man's adopted daughter, Billy admits that she would, for she says it would mean the continuance of her musical education.

However, urged by a nameless fear, she begs Clay to return to his father and his old life, to fill the void in his father's heart, so he will not want to adopt a daughter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

Anger at Clay's curt refusal of her request that he return to the home of his father, and thus make unnecessary the strange contest by which T. Q. would choose a daughter and an heiress to his fortune, carried Billy Wells on a high tide of furious resolve, until it landed her in her own bedroom.

Viola, the maid who had been assigned by Mrs. Meadows to look after the girls' clothes and to help them with their dressing when needed, told her that Nyda and Winnie had not yet returned. Dinner was to be at seven. It was now a few minutes after six.

"Violat, or rose bath salts, Miss Billy?" the colored maid's coaxing voice called from the bathroom. She liked the girls, particularly Winnie and Billy, because they did not "ritz" her as did Nyda.

"Both," Billy answered absently. The maid's giggle perked her to her feet. She padded to the big four poster bed and frowningly inspected the dress which Viola had laid out for her.

"Both ready, Miss Billy. I heard Miss Nyda bangin' the door to her room." Viola dragged past the bed on slow, reluctant feet. "Reckon I better go see kin I help her dress. powerful hard to please, Miss Billy."

"Tell her and Miss Shelton I want to see them both here in my room before they go down for dinner, Viola. Tell them it's extremely important."

She was relaxing in the seductive warmth of her rose-scented bath

ly. "I've been trying to make you and Nyda understand that I have something vitally important to tell you. But first I must ask a pledge of secrecy from each of you. You must swear that you won't tell a living soul, not Dal Romance, anyone in the world."

She went to the outside door as she talked, closed it and bolted it, then closed and locked the door into the bathroom.

Nyda and Winnie, impressed by her earnestness, rather solemnly gave their promises of absolute secrecy.

"All right, but don't forget to keep your promise," Billy warned them. "If you do, you'll upset the applecart for fair. I accidentally overheard T. Q. and Warburton talking this afternoon, and I heard T. Q. tell Warburton that he intended to adopt one of us three girls as his daughters and as heiress to a part of his fortune at the end of the year he has given over."

Nyda fell back upon her bed, in complete abandonment to amazement. Winnie Shelton let her squirrel coat slip to the floor, while she stood, one hand on her heart, her pretty face going very pale. "Billy—you're not kidding us?"

"I hardly kid about a thing like this," Billy told her grimly.

"Say? Nyda sat bolt upright with a jerk. "What did you spill the beans to us for? If you'd kept it a secret, you could have made up to T. Q. the whole year, and won in a walk."

"I've got to come tin, Nyda. I'm awfully sorry if you don't want me. Are you in trouble? Can't I help you, honey?"

"Oh, well," Nyda allowed the little figure to slip in under her arm. "I suppose I've got to stress for dinner. There's nothing the matter. I'm just blue."

Nyda ripped open the straps of her one-piece velvet dress and drew it over her head, tossing it petulantly upon the chaise longue. But Billy did not notice where the dress landed. Her eyes were fixed in horror on a great purple bruise on Nyda's shoulder, a bruise that had evidently been freshly and violently placed there.

Nyda glanced at the spot that held Billy's eye in fascinated horror, then clapped a trembling hand upon it, while her eyes glared at Billy with animal-like fury.

"Spying on me! Can't you mind your own business? I—I hurt myself. Got thrown against the door of a car when it almost turned over. Quit staring at me, you little fool!"

"What in the world are you two quarreling about?" Winnie's gay voice caroled from the door, which the two girls had not heard her open.

"I'm glad you're here, Winnie," Billy answered quietly, though her blue eyes were blazing with scorn of Nyda. "I've got something to tell you both. It may make you feel better, Nyda," she added, her voice softening, for she knew that the black-eyed beauty was merely taking out her rage on Eddie Banning upon the first innocent bystander. But why had Eddie Banning struck Nyda?

"I've got loads to tell you, too," Winnie laughed exultingly. "Oh, girls, I've learned to skate! Dal says I'm a natural-born stunt skater! Honest! He's a marvelous teacher, simply divine! I could have skated forever, with his arms about me."

Billy had an insane desire to choke that pretty, soft white neck. "I'm afraid we haven't time for a rhapsody on Dal Romance," she cut in sharp-

"I, Winnie flicked the suggestion aside scornfully.

"What do you say, Nyda?" Billy sat down on the edge of Nyda's bed and scowled the black eyes.

"I say, what he doesn't know won't hurt him, and what we know may do us for—or one of us—a lot of good." She flung back her fine, sleek head. "I guess you two know it's war between us, from now on, war to the knife."

"I suppose I get no mercy for having told you, when I might have kept silent?" Billy was coolly scornful. "It might make both of you feel better to know that all I want is the year that was promised me. You two can fight over the big prize. I won't lift a finger to win it."

"Very sweet, but I bet we'd find it turning bitter if we tried to swallow it." Winnie's delicious little face was suddenly cold and hard, almost ugly. "Trying to throw us off your guard, Nyda. It won't work, Billy. You're not a fool. Neither are we. We start even, unless you've already been tickling T. Q. under the chin."

"I haven't seen him since I heard his plans," Billy sprang from the bed and glared at them. "And if you're both going to act like this, I'll go in to win, just to keep T. Q. from being saddled with a daughter like either of you. I'm going to dress. If you don't want to make 'papa dear' sick, you'd better do the same thing. Instead of cutting me when I'm gone."

"They met in the drawing room just before dinner. Annette Truman and her brother Ralph had arrived, as had Dal Romance, infinitely shun and elegant in his close-fitting tuxedo. When Billy entered, he was leaning over Annette Truman, a plain, big girl, awkward and unattractive in the careless, ill-made kind of evening dress that only the rich and seemingly prominent dare wear. The girl's bulging, pale gray eyes were fixed in fascinated attention, almost prayerful concentration, on Dal Romance's grave secretive face.

Jealousy laid its paralyzing hand on Billy's heart. Annette Truman was rich, she obviously adored him, would crawl at his feet if he snapped his fingers in command. But why should he turn from an Annette Truman, with all that she could bring him, to an upstart nobody like Billy Wells?

But if she should win this fantastic new contest, should become T. Q. Curtis' adopted daughter—

"Oh, Mr. Curtis, would you mind awfully if I brought my books down to the library to study after dinner? I'll be as quiet as a little mouse. I won't bother you at all, if you'll let me sit with you for company." Winnie's light, high voice broke in on Billy's sudden realization that she

PRINCIPALS TALK OVER RETIREMENT FUND BILL

Recent action of the legislature on bills affecting the teachers' retirement fund was discussed by principals of the Junior and senior high schools with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent, at the regular principals' meeting Tuesday morning. The bill changed the method of raising money for the fund.

Three girls begin a hidden, desperate struggle to win a fortune. Will Billy Wells find it worth while?

Studebaker Commander

set ten world records by traveling 5000 miles in less than 5000 minutes-

BUT- What does it mean to You?

OF COURSE, you don't want to go 5000 continuous miles at better than a-mile-a-minute. But this sensational performance proved by the most brutal test ever recorded, that anything ordinary driver wants in speed and endurance, is child's play to THE COMMANDER.

Never before has any stock enclosed car in the world achieved such a maximum of miles in such a minimum of minutes.

33 Million Engine Explosions

To the ear, only a sound like the wind whisking through a grove; to the eye, only a fast moving bulk with contour dulled by its terrific speed... But within the six cylinders of The Commander's mighty engine—a fusillade of red hot explosions—over thirty-three million of them during the run! Connecting rods plunged upward and downward about eleven million times, wheels revolved over three million times.

Despite this ordeal, mechanical repairs were limited to three grease cups (damaged by hasty greasing) and a spark plug!—negligible when you consider that this astounding performance is equivalent to 25,000 miles of ordinary going.

Let Harry Hartz—America's Champion Driver—tell you out of his own experience what a stock COMMANDER will do.

Harry Hartz Says: "It will maintain any given speed up to sixty-five miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Figures Which Show the Strain of 5000 Miles in 4909 Minutes

Total of 33,000,000 explosions in the engine!

More than 1,100 explosions per minute in each cylinder, equivalent to more than 18 per second! About 7,000 explosions per minute in the six cylinders!

11,000,000 strokes of each piston!

9,200,000 feet, or about 1750 miles, traveled by each piston!

3,330,000 revolutions for each wheel!

This is what an engine must do to travel 5000 miles—but more than a thousand Studebaker cars have been driven 100,000 to 500,000 miles—and many of them are still in service!

Because of its super-abundant power, The Commander will perform eagerly, easily, smoothly—with no labor or effort—and all tasks placed upon it.

Studebaker has produced in these new models, cars which will excel even the staunch dependable Studebakers of the past in low repair and maintenance costs.

It is now possible to purchase a truly great automobile at a moderate price! The Commander is justly known as "the greatest post-war achievement in automotive engineering."

Get Behind the Wheel

But drive THE COMMANDER yourself and draw your own conclusions—get behind the wheel that'll put you ahead of everything on the road—step on the throttle and feel the thrill of outstepping competition—or test it in traffic for flexibility of handling—any old rate of travel suits THE COMMANDER—it is both gentle at town speeds for a woman and a giant at top speeds for a man!

More Records!

Take the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower, and the Studebaker Big Six outsells them!

Take all the Eights in the world, as well as all the Sixes, selling for less than $2500, and the Studebaker Big Six Commander outperforms and outlives them!

And take all day long for a real demonstration.

COUNCILMEN NAMED ON BOARD TO STUDY FREE BAND CONCERTS

Aldermen Discuss Appropriation of $750 to Pay Band Expenses

Kaukauna—Free public band concerts were practically assured the people of Kaukauna at the adjourned meeting of the city council Wednesday evening in the municipal administration building. Mayor W. Sullivan appointed a committee of three consisting of Otto M. Ludke, Edward Ray and W. H. Cooper to confer with the officers of the Kaukauna Moose band. This committee was instructed to enter into an agreement with the band concerning the number of concerts and the time. The band has asked $750 for 10 public concerts. It was suggested at the council meeting that two concerts be held each month, one on each side of the river. The council wanted the band officers to know that it would not consider it a concert unless the full personnel was playing. Alderman Peter Hoolihan objected to the band saying that the business men would derive the benefits from the concerts more than the workingmen and the alderman added that in the recent band drive for funds the businessmen of the city failed to contribute $25 to the fund. He said he saw no reason why the city should support it if the businessmen didn't care. Alderman W. H. Cooper said he believed the laboring classes derived the most from the concerts and he showed how many Kaukauna people attended the concerts at Little Chute, Kimberly and Appleton.

The council voted to accept the proposal of the Joseph McCarthy Concrete Co. for completing the Wisconsin-ave. bridge, including the paving of the intersections. The concrete will be laid at $15 per yard.

Alderman E. R. Landreman suggested to the council that any paving this summer be on Quincy-ave. Main-ave. and the remaining council members will inspect the paving on Sunday May 23.

A complaint was read on the newly erected sign board on Third-st. between Reume-ave and Main-ave adjoining the O. Smith property. Joseph Lefevre, city attorney, told the council there was no city ordinance covering sign boards. He said it was up to each municipality to decide whether it wanted a police pension ordinance.

The petition for an act right on the corner of Lincoln-ave and High-st. was referred to utility commission.

Mayor W. C. Sullivan recommended that the police pension ordinance be laid aside until next meeting so each council member might have time to study the provisions of the measure. It was introduced as a bill in the state legislature last fall, but was defeated. The legislators decided it was up to each municipality to decide whether it wanted a police pension ordinance.

SCHNEIDER TELLS KIWANIS HOW GOVERNMENT WORKS

Congressman Describes Law-making Procedure to Luncheon Club

A description on how the United States government is operated, was given members of the Kiwanis club at the regular meeting Wednesday noon at the Conway hotel by Congressman George J. Schneider of the Ninth district. In a talk on "The Government's Business," Congressman Schneider told of the work of the three great divisions of government: the judiciary, executive and legislative but spent most of his time unravelling the legislative plans of the Congress.

The legislative branch of the national government is composed of the Senate and House of Representatives. Congressman Schneider said. The legislative machinery is perhaps the most interesting part of the division. Bills introduced into congress are referred by the presiding officers to the committees and they in turn refer them to their various departments after which they are returned to committees for hearings. After a public hearing they are approved or rejected. If they are approved they go to the house and from there to the senate. If they are passed by the first body. Perhaps the Senate will amend a bill and return it to the house. If the amendment meets the approval of the house it is returned and goes to the president for signature. If it is not approved the House and Senate appoint conferees who meet to reach an agreement on the bill.

When the house is organized after an election, each party holds a caucus and nominates men for various offices from speaker to clerk. The party leader of the majority takes the office. Besides the official committees several unofficial groups are formed and many of these are more powerful than the regular committees. The steering committee is the most powerful of these, representing the administration in power. It is the voice of the party in congress. Any bill it disapproves is killed.

Congressman Schneider discussed propaganda, saying that an average representative can tell the difference between a real letter from a constituent, which he always is glad to receive and that of propaganda organization.

Statistics on the number of bills passed yearly by each house and the appropriations, concluded the talk. The appropriations reached four and a half billion dollars two years ago and were decreased to about four and a quarter billions this year.

Miss Ellen Tutton of Palmyra, personnel director at Lawrence college, has been selected to represent the college at a foreign university next year in accordance with the world fellowship plan of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Gordon Clapp, chairman of the committee appointed to choose the representative, announced at convocation services Thursday morning. Big And Little Kids Out Early To See Season's First Circus Unload Cars And Set Up Tents

No need to call the kids this morning. They were up with the dawn and down in the North-western Junction yards just at daybreak impatiently awaiting the arrival of the long special train of the Christy Brothers big five ring wild animal show. It put in an appearance about 6 o'clock coming to Appleton from Oshkosh, it did not hesitate long and for several hours the circus men were busy unloading the vast amount of paraphernalia, the heavy baggage wagons and the many animals cages. Word of the arrival quickly spread and by the time the animals had been removed from the cars the streets leading to the lot was all but blocked with cars and spectators. The small boy got a job carrying water for the elephants and helping the circus men erect the many tents, the elephants, fitted with heavy harness assisted in raising the long poles of the two biggest tents, and pushed the big animal pens into the menagerie. Animal tamers led a procession of water buffalo, yaks, sacred cattle, eight reindeer and more than fifty little ponies to a near by city hydrant where they were watered, the elephant mahouts, twelve big and little pachyderms, and the fourteen camels, to water and the latter believe their reputation by drinking a plenty. A band of Chippewa Indians attracted considerable attention, particularly the squaws with their papooses slung over their shoulders. There was a venerable gray haired chief, who seemed to be in charge and several young bucks. The kids gazed at them pop eyed and kept at a respectful distance. They were not so afraid however of the cowboys that rode spotted ponies out to the lot. There was a string of eighty beautiful ring horses, snow white, spotted and dun colored, and just before the street parade lined up the cages were opened and the animals fed the crowd witnessing this interesting procedure free of charge. They also had a chance to see at close hand the baby lions, the two little baby hyena cubs, and pet the baby camel.

CIRCUS WELL EQUIPPED
The Christy show has a big equipment of canvas. There is a mammoth "big top" with six poles, and seats for 5500 people as well as room along one side for the massive scenery of the opening spectacle of Noah and the Ark, a five pole menagerie, side show, two dressing tents, four stables, a dining tent and cook house where all the cooking is done by steam, a nut show and several concession tents. The show has also its own electric lighting system. The show comes from Texas, its winter quarters being in Houston which city it left just a month ago and has passed through the entire flooded area of Louisiana, Arkansas and southern Illinois. In many places being the last train to pass over bridges partially or entirely submerged. It was the last train to pass over the Missouri Pacific bridge at Little Rock before it went out. Thousands enjoyed the long and attractive street parade this noon and there was good attendance at the afternoon performance. The parade presented plenty of music from five bands, the animals were on display in handsomely decorated cages, the trim looking women rode trim, looking horses, the Indians were in all the glory of full war painted feathers, the cowboys were booted and spurred, there was a jazz band and the clowns to have fun with the crowd, pretty
